Legal Snarl Over Contiguous House Lots

Three of nine appeals before the Zoning Board of Appeals last week concerned an amendment to the state sub-division control law, which Andover has accepted, relating to lots recorded prior to an up-grading of the area by local action.

In effect, the amendment stipulates that if one person owns several adjoining lots, building permits can not be issued for the individual lots even if the lots were properly recorded prior to an up-grading of the district. In theory, it is explained, the owner would have the opportunity, with adjacent property, to put two pieces of land together and make them conform to present requirements. If the land has changed ownership, and under certain other conditions, the sub-standard lots may be built upon, however.

The first case involving the law was brought before the board by Alexander H. Henderson, who requested permission to erect buildings on several lots in Henderson acres, and area developed by him over the past few years.

According to Mr. Henderson, the lots were in conformance to zoning regulations when he recorded the plan at the registry of deeds and with the town planning board. He now has been refused a building permit because the town has "up-graded" the size of lots and despite his recording of the land and conformance to the zoning regulations at the time of filing, a permit cannot be granted.

As near as could be determined the lots would be unaffected if Mr. Henderson at some time since the adoption of the amendment to the by-laws which upgraded the

Will Explain Route 110 Plans

Urban Renewal Program OK'd

The federal housing administrator has given approval to Andover's application for urban renewal planning funds.

Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers announced the action, which was confirmed in a letter to the Board of Selectmen.

The application, which contained the outline of a workable program, had to receive this approval before the town could be eligible for a federal grant of funds for a detailed plan.

If the community adopts the detailed plan, a portion of the cost of the plan will be repaid by the town. But if after, town meeting sees the final plans, there is a negative vote, the federal government will pay the entire amount.

Wallace M. Haselton, who has been a spokesman for the urban renewal committee here, has stated that there will be no cost to the town in any form until such time as a town meeting

Raytheon Gave More Blood

Raytheon Company donors topped their past records in a two-day bloodmobile visit to the Andover plant this past week, when 615 potential donors answered the call and 513 pints of blood were received.

Red Cross authorities of the Andover Chapter stated that at a time when blood is at a premium, it was encouraging to note Raytheon employees went far beyond the usual percentage of acceptances for this time of year.

Assisting in the preparations were Claire Nigrelli, Barbara Clough, Lynne Cotter, Carolyn Thomas and Jean Keating from Raytheon's personnel department and the following volunteer workers of the Andover Chapter, American Red Cross:

MAY USE BRIDGE SOMETIME IN FALL

Route 93, from the Methuen interchange at the bridge, to Route 128 interchange, probably will be open for use this fall.

A spokesman for the state Department of Public Works said this week that the department is certain the completed portion of the federal highway will be opened before winter.

Completion of the interchange at the Methuen end of the bridge across the river is one factor in the opening. Noting that it would be impractical to open the bridge until the interchanges with Route 113 and 110 are finished, the spokesman commented that the bridge work itself is nearly completed.

Route 93 has been scheduled for completion in 1961. Work is continuing in the section south of Route 128, and has begun on the section from the interchange at the river towards the New Hampshire line.

Sends Data To Liquor Board

Data concerning the denial of a transfer of a package store license from Boston rd. to Park st. has been sent to the Alcoholic Beverages Commission in Boston this week.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff said the ABC had requested all the information available to the Board of Selectmen, on which was based the decision to deny the transfer. It had been proposed to move the beer and wine license belonging to Deady's Inc. to a building on Park st. If this was accomplished, Deady's Inc. had asked permission from the Selectmen to sell the shares of stock in the corporation to Johnny's Market.

The Selectmen denied the transfer, citing the reasons that there are sufficient package stores in that area of town. An attorney representing objectors had pre-

A full explanation of tentative plans for Route 110 will be furnished the Selectmen at their next meeting Aug. 24.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff confirmed the date, after conferring with representatives of the State Department of Public Works Monday morning in Boston. With other town officials, he scanned plans for a section of the route from Rt. 93 to the bridge across the Merrimack in No. Andover.

Mr. Duff reported that, in general, the plan seems to follow the course originally discussed.

An interchange will be located at No. Main st., about at Scanlon's Restaurant, he said, with both No. Main st. and Union st. running under the Rt. 110 overpass at that point. Neither of these streets would dead-end, as had formerly been reported.

Mr. Duff said the tentative plans show no dead ends along the proposed route from Rt. 93 through Andover.

Plans for the section of road include calling for bids next winter and construction early next spring, he reported.

Last week, the town officials talked with engineers responsible for the section of Rt. 110 from Tewksbury to Rt. 93 in Andover. They reported that High Plain rd. is shown as a dead-end on the preliminary plans.

Training Center Coming Again

As in previous years, the Junior Red Cross leadership training center for New England will be held at Phillips Academy, from Aug. 23 to 30.

Four Andover delegates will attend, sponsored by the Andover Junior Red Cross, the Junior High School, and the Andover Chapter. They are Allan Shepherd May, Edith Robbins, Geraldine Pelletier, and Malcolm Warren Sandberg. Ahead of them is a busy week of workshop activities in leadership skills, recreation, school exhibits, and water safety; and they will be expected to take part in discussions of community services, international activities, and Junior Red Cross organization.

The directors of the center, already in Andover, are Miss Lorraine Horan of Worcester, Mrs. Jeannette McDonald, and Miss Ruth Lewis, the field representative for this area.

Veterans Warned About Medical Care

Costs of emergency treatment of veterans in private hospitals may be paid by Veterans Administration only if the medical care was for service-connected conditions, the agency said today.

Dr. Francis B. Carroll, VA's Area Medical Director for New England and New York, said the medical emergency must have been such that an attempt to secure admission to a VA hospital would have been hazardous to the veteran.

VA may assume full medical responsibility in such cases only if the emergency treatment is reported to the nearest VA hospital or regional office within 72 hours after admission of the veteran to a private hospital, Dr. Carroll said.

Dr. Carroll said VA cannot pay private hospital bills for veterans who elect to receive treatment in non-VA facilities as a matter of choice rather than of necessity.

A veteran who paid his private hospital bill for emergency treatment of a service-connected condition may file a claim for reimbursement by VA, Dr. Carroll said.

He said reimbursement claims can be approved only if proof is submitted that the emergency required the veteran to be taken to the nearest private hospital for treatment and would not have permitted his admission to a VA hospital.

ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF STATE COMMITTEE

Rev. J. Allyn Bradford was elected chairman of the Committee on Migrants, which met in the Trinitarian Congregational Church in Concord Aug. 13.

The Committee serves the migrant workers in the communities of Framingham, Lexington, Woburn, Revere, Waltham, Arlington, Concord and Andover in cooperation with the Mass. Council of Churches. A chaplain is supplied by the state council to the workers, during the summer months, and many local churches participate in the program.

Mrs. Margaret H. Ekstrom, director of the Migrant Ministry in the New England Area, spoke briefly to the meeting on the purposes and hopes of the National Council for this work.

YWCA To Expand Program Here

Because of the success of the Y.W.C.A. Andover program last spring and the planning of the Andover committee, the "Y" will expand its program in the fall with an eight week session beginning Oct. 8. This will be a Homemaker's Holiday program with a Kiddie Park for pre-school children, thus allowing mothers to learn some new skill or attend a recreation class while the children are cared for under experienced supervision.

In a community program such as this the needs of the town are considered because the object of the decentralized program of the Y.W.C.A. is to supplement educational and activities offered by schools and other community agencies. A well rounded program help women become better homemakers through acquisition of new skills and interests and provide an opportunity for creative expression sociability and wholesome recreation. In a community program is always limited by the facilities available and by the teachers' schedules, but throughout the year different types of classes will be presented.

In the fall the classes will take place in the Andover Youth Center Thursday mornings when the building is not being used for its own program.

It is the United Fund of Greater Lawrence which makes possible these programs in the central building as well as in the surrounding communities since the Y.W.C.A. is a member agency.

The Andover Committee which has been working with the staff of the Y.W.C.A. on this project includes Mrs. Ralph Hill, chairman, Mrs. Harry Axelrod, Mrs. Roscoe Dake, Mrs. William Emmons, Mrs. Robert Hatton, Mrs. Edward Johnston, Mrs. Gordon Lauder, Mrs. Charles McCullom, Mrs. Joseph Sapienza and Mrs. Reagh Wetmore.

Refuse To Comment On Russian Visit

The Selectmen have refused to take a stand, as a Board, on denouncing the forthcoming visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States, on the grounds they can not speak for the town on such a matter.

Selectman William Stewart commented that he would not feel that the Board could possibly know the opinions of the townspeople on such an issue, thus a statement would be out of order.

But, he stated, every citizen of the town is entitled to make known his own opinion by letter to federal officials concerned with the visit.

Members of the Board concurred with the feelings expressed by Mr. Stewart.

FORMER LOCAL MAN FILES $25,000 SUIT

A $25,000 suit has been filed against the city of Dover and Dr. E. Ross Mintz, Hopkinton surgeon for alleged negligence during an operation at the Wentworth Dover Hospital.

The action filed in Strafford County Superior Court charges that a sponge was left in the incision during an operation performed May 7, 1956, on John P. Murphy of South Berwick, Me., formerly of Andover.

The suit further states that Dr. Mintz and the hospital "so unskillfully, negligently and carelessly performed the operation that they permitted the sponge to remain inside the incision".

The suit contends that Murphy after being released from the hospital, "suffered pain and mental anguish and was disabled and incapacitated."

According to the action, Murphy re-entered the hospital Jan. 15, 1959 for a second major operation and the "surgical gauze or sponge" was discovered.

The complaint claims that Murphy was so weakened in health that he had to abandon his home and move from Massachusetts to Maine to live with relatives.

It also states that Murphy was forced to place his home for sale.

FORMER LOCAL MAN
FILES $25,000 SUIT

A $25,000 suit has been filed against the city of Dover and Dr.
E. Ross Mintz, Hopkinton surgeon for alleged negligence during an operation at the Wentworth Dover Hospital.

The action filed in Strafford
County Superior Court charges that a sponge was left in the incision during an operation performed May 7, 1956, on John P. Murphy of South Berwick, Me., formerly of Andover.

The suit further states that Dr.
Mintz and the hospital "so un-skillfully, negligently and carelessly performed the operation that they permitted the sponge to remain inside the incision".

The suit contends that Murphy after being released from the hospital, "suffered pain and mental anguish and was disabled and incapacitated."

According to the action, Murphy re-entered the hospital Jan. 13, 1959 for a second major operation and the "surgical gauze or sponge" was discovered.

The complaint claims that Murphy was so weakened in health that he had to abandon his home and move from Massachusetts to Maine to live with relatives.

It also states that Murphy was forced to place his home for sale.

size of lots, had conveyed title to the land or it was not in contiguous ownership.

Mr. Henderson has been the sole owner of the particular sections of the subdivision and is thereby effected.

Atty. Charles F. Hatch pointed out that the town, in 1956 at the annual town meeting, had refused to accept an act similar to this and declared that there was some inconsistency. It was pointed out however, that the town had voted to come under the sub-division control law and in so doing accepts acts and resolves as passed in the legislature. This is where the law took effect.

Several In Favor

Several persons spoke in favor of having Mr. Henderson continue his development, particularly in view of the manner in which he conformed to the town regulations concerning water, sewer, drainage and the laying of streets.

Sidney P. White, addressed the Board, stressing that he felt this case should be considered as a hardship case. He said attorneys could argue the meaning and intent of the law, but by-laws are so confusing to the public that the decision to be made would be far reaching.

In pointing out that the decision should be based upon hardship, Mr. White emphasized that Mr. Henderson had taken some unsightly acreage in this particular area, Marion ave. and Henderson acres, and improved upon it to the point of making a beautiful development. He further pointed out that the nine lots involve the paying of sewer, water, drainage and street work costs. He stated that he hoped, for the good of the town and for the petitioner, that the board would find it a hardship case and allow Mr. Henderson to continue with his development.

Several abutters also addressed the board favoring the petitioner.

Atty. Joseph F. Bacigalupo, a member of the board of appeals, stated that he felt it was a hardship case in commenting on the law which forced Mr. Henderson to come before the board. Chairman Alfred W. Fuller called the law grossly unfair, at least in this case, as the matter was taken under advisement.

Another Case

Practically similar was the case of John N. Shields, who is seeking permission to construct dwellings on established lots on Linwood st.

Atty. Charles G. Hatch pointed out that Mr. Shields has agreed to purchase the land from Searles Realty company, provided permission is granted to construct dwellings.

In his presentation to the board, Atty. Hatch pointed out that the lots in question had been conveyed to separate owners on several occasions, thus removing them from the conditions stipulated in the by-law. The case was actually similar to the one which Mr. Henderson presented, with the exception that lots were in separate ownership.

Counsel further pointed out that the realty firm had agreed to put the street in proper condition in order to improve the area.

Atty. Joseph S. Sullivan, representing several objectors at the hearing, informed the Board that what the abutters or objectors wanted particularly was to see the neighborhood retain its present grade of development and to have conformance to zoning by-laws. They wish emphatically, counsel pointed out that if building permits are granted, that a performance bond be posted for the completion and improvement of Linwood st.

Two persons personally objected due to a ledge deposit in the rear of their houses and on two lots in question, which they felt would have to be blasted.

There were questions raised as to the type of structure which was to be placed on the lots. Board members pointed out they had no control over such matters. Building Inspector Ernest N. Hall showed two plans which had been presented for permits and showing that the proposed structures would be equal to the buildings in the area at present.

It was agreed that the two attorneys in the case would meet and attempt to work out the objections and inform the board of the resulting agreements, before any action was taken by the board of appeals.

Third Case

In a case which found the section of the statute in question favoring a petitioner, Hattie E. Napier, represented by Atty. Hatch, requested permission to build on lot less than the required area on Elm st. Atty. Hatch pointed out that the lot was owned originally by the petitioner, conveyed to another party in later years, then returned to Mrs. Napier, thus conforming to the regulations in that it had not been in continuous ownership but at all times was a recorded lot which at one time conformed to the zoning by-law.

There was no opposition to the petition and the board took it under advisement.

Storage Area

Robert Colombosian, who petitioned for permission to add a storage room to his dairy building on Argilla rd., told the board that the room was necessary. He said it would be a squaring off of the present building.

The petitioner pointed out that if he did not get the relief requested he would be forced to move his trucks out on the street and use the garage for storage.

It was pointed out that the building is in a non-conforming use area and that the board of appeals has no authority to extend boundaries set up by the zoning laws.

Sidney P. White told the board that he was not there to protest the addition but realized that the business could grow and wanted to know what future plans called for. He said that he had lost the sale of house lots in the area due to the threatened growth of the business.

Mr. Colombosian pointed out that the business was there before the by-laws were adopted.

Harold King of the Planning Board registered that group's opposition to the addition, stating that it was creeping growth and a derogation from the zoning by-laws.

Opposition was registered to the petition of Werner C. Kaatz, who requested a variance to allow building on a lot owned by him on Maple ave. which is less than the requirements of the zoning by-law.

Plan Bd. Opposed

In addition to the opposition registered by some of the abutters, Harold King registered the opposition of the planning board to the petition.

A petition of Edwin J. Verda for a variance to allow building on a small lot on Woburn st., was taken under advisement. Mr. Verda pointed out that he desired to build on the lot in order to provide a larger home for his growing family.

Mr. King, who again registered the planning board opposition, informed the Board of a town counsel ruling in a similar case which stipulates the limitations of the board of appeals.

None Opposed

There was no opposition to the petitions of Raymond Lynch for a variance to allow the sub-division of property at 14-16 Cuba st. owned by Annie Z. and Julia C. Schofield, to the petition of Joseph Cardella for a variance to allow the conversion of a two family home at 6 Punchard ave. to three apartments and petition of Sarah Burke for a variance to allow building on two lots of land owned by her on Poor st. with areas less than the zoning law requirements.

Present at the hearing were Planning Board Chairman Donald Thompson, Atty. James H. Eaton III, and Mr. King, Building Inspector Ernest N. Hall and Town Manager Thomas E. Duff.

Sitting as the Board of Appeals were Chairman Fuller, Atty. Backalupo and Edmond E. Hammond.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Common Sense Decision

The Selectmen used excellent judgment in refusing to become involved in the nation-wide dispute over the visit of the Soviet premier.

Many boards and organizations connected with municipal affairs have been adopting strong resolutions — and we suspect many of these are politically-inspired. It's popular, in the case of many politicians, to become involved in such an issue because it's easy to know which is the popular side.

The local Selectmen, however, took the position that they couldn't possibly speak for all the residents of this town on an issue such as this — and refrained from appearing to do so.

At the same time, they did suggest that every citizen has the right to let public officials know how he or she feels on any subject, and suggested that residents with strong opinions on this subject write to their congressmen and other Washington officials.

Many Appreciate Pomp's

It may be so normal as to deserve little comment to people born and brought up in communities having public swimming areas, but to many others not so fortunate in that respect, the presence of a pond dedicated to the use of the town's residents is a welcome sign that summer may have its pleasant moments too.

Such is the case with Pomp's Pond — so familiar to long-time residents that its presence demands little comment; but such a welcome addition to suburban living to those who have not had similar municipal benefits that they are overjoyed.

Days such as we have been experiencing recently prove the point — for the Pomp's beach and water were visual demonstrations of the enjoyment many families obtained, not to mention the welcome, even if temporary relief from the broiling sun.

There are many reasons why men, women and children, alike, may prefer suburban living. And at this point in the summer, a free municipal service such as this one is not the least of them.

Big Politicians Won

It was disappointing, but not unexpected, when the House of Representatives put the skids under the bill that would have taken public works patronage out of the legislators' grasp.

When we noted, a few weeks ago, that the House had passed the bill by an overwhelming majority, our first thought was that some of the master politicians must have goofed. Otherwise, there never would have been an affirmative vote on such a measure.

That belief seems to have been confirmed by the switch in the votes of enough legislators to kill the bill for this session. Presumably it means that our state highways will once again be dotted with clusters of loafing men, as signs warn motorists to slow down, using the slogan "Men on Road" which has replaced the previously used obscurity "Men Working".

It seems difficult to understand how legislators could, of their own volition, desire to keep this patronage headache in their own hands. Clearly they'd be better off to be able to tell all patronage seekers that they no longer can be of assistance — thus at once ridding themselves of the problem and the election-year stigma of not helping a constituent.

What went on in the House of Representatives Monday, when the big switch took place, is an example of master politics and politicians exerting the pressure, and some legislators succumbing to it.

William Cheever and family spent Sunday at Plum Island.

President Taft and party have apparently driven through Andover several times during trips around Essex County. But the only local resident to speak to him is Lewis Paine, son of Joshua D. Paine of Washington ave. The presidential party stopped to ask him how to find Phillips Academy.

An automatic peanut machine was stolen Sunday night from in front of Crowley's drug store.

There will be a public hearing Sept. 14 in the town hall for all residents to express their ideas on a complete zoning by-law. Proponents of the by-laws feel the town needs the protection of full zoning. The hearing is one of the final steps to be taken before a special town meeting is called to act on the proposals.

Nearly $5,000 has been paid to three local pig raisers by the federal government for curtailing the number of hogs they raise.

Residents of Ballardvale have over 100 signatures on a petition asking that a police officer be assigned to the Vale. The petition will be presented to the Selectmen after more signatures are gathered. Residents state that a recent wave of robberies, false alarms and other activities demand the presence of an officer.

A Dorchester man was fatally injured Monday when his car struck a truck on North Main st., opposite the Wood estate.

Phillips Academy opens Sept. 18 with a record enrollment of 660 students. Eight members have been added to the faculty, bringing it to a total membership of 69.

The soccer field is under construction at the Playstead, as one of the planned E.R.A. projects. Two tennis courts are being planned at the Playstead, with construction to start when the present project is completed.

10 Years Ago — August, 1949

The second case of polio in the year was reported last week. A young man who is employed at a West Andover farm contracted the disease. Health officials are trying to determine where he may have been exposed to it, as he spends weekends at his Reading home.

Water consumption records for June and July broke all existing records. The hot, dry period caused residents to use a total of 125,055,000 gallons of water compared to 83,220,000 the previous year.

The Ballardvale ticket office will be closed Saturdays, beginning Sept. 3, as will many smaller ticket offices of the railroad.

Sealed bids on the veteran's housing project will be opened Friday night. Some 34 contractors have taken out plans on the 12-building project, which will cost an estimated $67,000.

The Union Congregational Church of Ballardvale has called the Rev. Paul C. Callahan of Greeley, Colorado.

Plans are progressing for the annual water carnival at Pomp's Pond next weekend.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:
"As dumps go, Andover's is perhaps the dumpiest. My guess is that few people who ride through Andover imagine the disgrace we tolerate in that part of our town."

"Perhaps the electric company would be willing to sell us about 20 second hand poles up to 20 feet in height. These could be installed by the highway men. Then chain link fence attached up to 15 feet in height."

"The entrance to the dump should be made parallel to the fence. That is, have the fence overlap itself for about 95 feet leaving a passageway about 15 feet wide through which traffic could pass. Thus an effective trap for wind borne refuse would be created. All this could be done for something less than $2500."

"This fall Boy Scouts could spend a Saturday burning and otherwise removing the enormous pigsty of paper and other waste which litters the area up to a 1,000 feet beyond the present limits of the dump."

"This corrective move is justified even if the dump may be moved elsewhere within a year or two."

URBAN RENEWAL PLAN APPROVED

adopts the final, detailed plans. The approval of the housing administrator was required, however, before the plans could be prepared.

The announcement from Washington stated:

"Andover, Massachusetts, today received from Housing Administrator Norman P. Mason approval of its workable program for the prevention and elimination of slums and blight."

"Formal approval of a workable program is a pre-requisite for federal assistance in the forms of loans and grants for slum clearance and rehabilitation, for public housing, and for liberal types of FHA mortgage insurance for private redevelopment of project areas and for rehousing displaced families."

"Andover is situated 23 miles north of Boston, adjacent to Lawrence and 10 miles east of Lowell. It is an integral part of the Lawrence-Lowell industrial region. Its principal products are rubber goods and textiles. It is also the home of Phillips Andover Academy, Abbott Academy, and Merrimack College."

"Andover's population, as shown by the 1955 State Census, had grown to approximately 15,000 or an increase of about 17 percent since 1950."

"The town reported that it has satisfactory electrical and plumbing codes, that a committee is studying the revision of its building code, and that a committee is formed to study the adoption of a housing code."

"Andover also said that all elements of a comprehensive community plan have been developed, and subdivision regulations and zoning ordinances have been adopted. It stated that its Housing Authority's studies of a proposed urban renewal project area will include a complete neighborhood analysis of the town's blight problem."

"The town stated that it accepts responsibility for relocating in decent, safe, and sanitary housing, all families to be displaced by governmental action. It said the Andover Housing Authority has 64 moderate rental units in operation, and 40 units for the elderly are under construction with State aid, which should be sufficient to meet relocation requirements."

"Andover reported that an urban renewal committee had been formed and that citizens had voted in favor of the program."

Waiting For 3 Refund Checks

The names of three persons with local addresses appear on a list of unclaimed refund checks from the Internal Revenue service.

District Director Frank J. Cavanagh said 3,200 refund checks are being held, after the postal authorities were unable to deliver the checks. This failure, he said, could be attributed to changes in address and other reasons beyond the control of the postal service.

He warned persons whose names appeared on the list that they need not hire any searching service to get their checks. All that must be done is to establish proper identification with the Internal Revenue office where the annual return is filed.

The names furnished by the director, as having Andover addresses, were:

F. and N. D. Fichera, 152 Andover st.; Mary E. Howe, 35 Main st.; and Elsie B. Nelson, Wist ave., W. Andover. The street directory lists no avenue by the name of "Wist" in Andover.

THIS ADVANCED-DESIGN Air Force Titan re-entry vehicle (nose cone) is an artist's conception of a flight over an ocean test range. This vehicle is now under development at Avco's Research and Advanced Development Division, Wilmington, which announced that it had received an Air Force contract to design an even more advanced Titan re-entry vehicle. The long, slender, advanced-design concept employs the ablating principle in which very high-heat-resistant materials are "cooked away" to carry off excessive heat generated during re-entry. This permits much higher re-entry speeds than were possible with the earlier blunt-nosed shapes employing the "heat sink" principle in which re-entry heat was absorbed by a heavy metal cap. The Thor-Able test vehicle that was recovered April 8 after a 5000-mile flight down the Atlantic Missile Test Range was designed to test the material developed by Avco for the advanced-design Titan re-entry vehicle. The April 8 recovery was the first successful recovery of a nose cone after a full-range ICBM flight. Inset shows the approximate relative size of an advanced-design nose cone in comparison with the entire 90-foot Titan missile, depicted on the launching pad.

Veterans Warned
To Check Policies

Oversight on the part of many Massachusetts veterans may deprive their families of money at a time when they need it most, William J. Blake, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office in Boston, warned.

Mr. Blake said an increasing number of cases are coming to light in which proceeds from GI life insurance were paid to other than the veteran's immediate family.

In most of these cases, Mr. Blake said, it can be presumed that the veteran, through carelessness, failed to keep his VA listing of insurance beneficiaries up-to-date.

Massachusetts veterans holding GI insurance policies were urged by Mr. Blake to notify VA immediately of any desired changes in beneficiaries to match the changes in family status occasioned through marriages, divorces, births, or deaths.

Mr. Blake said VA is required by law to pay GI insurance proceeds to the beneficiary of record, whether or not that beneficiary still is in any way connected with the veteran.

In many cases, Mr. Blake said, the beneficiaries of record are the same ones the policyholders named when they took out their policies, even though they have since married and now have families.

"If any of these policyholders should die today," Mr. Blake said, "VA would have to pay the GI insurance proceeds to the beneficiaries of record, instead of to the veteran's widow or children."

Changes of beneficiaries can be made at any time without notifying the beneficiaries, but they must be made in writing over the policy-

DAR Plans Events To Raise Money

Although the first meeting of Priscilla Abbot Chapter, N.S.D.A.R., occurs in October, the members are considering various projects for earning money this summer.

A coffee hour was held recently at the home of Mrs. Arthur Bonner on Chestnut st., attended by many of the members of the chapter, and their friends, and netted quite a sum for the treasury. Other members are planning whist parties, and Sept. 18 at a store in Lawrence, a rummage sale will be held for which donations of clothing, bric-a-brac and so forth will be solicited.

The first meeting of the chapter will be held Oct. 13, the program to be announced later.

Constitution Week will start Sept. 17, and be observed by the Chapters of the D.A.R. throughout the country with various programs in the schools and mention in the churches on the Sunday, Sept. 20.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Johnson recently returned to their home on High Plain rd. after an enjoyable three weeks' visit with their daughter, Phyllis, and her family Mr. and Mrs. Donald Setteman of St. Paul Park, Minn. While there, their oldest son, Albert Johnson, flew on from Fresno, Cal. and visited with them. Albert returned to Andover with his parents and visited other members of the family before returning to Fresno last weekend.
